

Dear parent/guardian,

I write to inform you of a two-day literary festival to which your son/daughter, along with the rest of their class, will have contributed as part of their Unit 2 studies within the Languages, Literacy and Communication Area of Learning and Experience (AoLE). This event is intended to showcase the work and achievements of your son/daughter within the AoLE throughout this last academic term, and incorporates subunits taught in Welsh and English lessons, as well as in International Languages (French a Mandarin). The project is focused upon the role of heroes in mythology.

The literary festival will be held in the school's Cilfwnnwr Hall on July 7th. I would like to extend an invitation for you to appreciate the efforts of your child by calling into the festival during lunchtime i.e. 12:40pm and 1:30pm. Amongst the contributions from each class will be written and oral work, including some videos. The key question considered in preparation for the end-of-term project is: 'To what extent are heroes important in the mythology of the languages I currently study?'

During the day, local bookshops will be selling both Welsh and English books for students to purchase! Why not take advantage by encouraging your children to purchase their summer read?

If you are unable to attend, you will be able to access a summary and the main highlights of the event by way of a digital hyperlink which will be shared at a later date.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support in enriching your child's education.

Yours faithfully,

Elidir Dafydd
(Leader of AoLE Languages, Literacy and Communication)
